

John Burr Cycles Endurance Series is Fast Approaching---The 6-Hour is March 23rd!

The opening round of the John Burr Cycles Endurance Series is fast approaching! If you have not yet done so, it is time to get those entries in! Online entries continue to be open through March 21st at glenhelen.com. The opener 6-Hour Endurance Race is set to be flagged off on March 23rd at 8:30 AM. Get your teams together and plan on running fast for six hours!

The JBC Endurance has trophies and awards for both individual (6-Hour, 10-Hour, and 24-Hour) events as well as trophies and awards for the series winners. Plan on racing all three of the John Burr Cycles Endurance Series events to grab your share of the prizes!

Teams are comprised of three riders who can utilize up to two bikes (one must stay in the impound area at all times); there is also an Ironman Class whose riders can also use two machines. Entry fees for the teams are $90 pre-entry and $100 post-entry; Ironman Class entries are $45 pre and $50 post. In addition to the online entries, teams and Ironmen can enter at the track on Saturday between 3pm and 6pm, and on race-day (Sunday) at 6 am. Signup location is the REM Tower. There are no membership fees required!

The race will be run over a 9-mile course designed (and tested) by both 4-time National Champ Gary Jones and current Dirt Bike Editor Ron Lawson. It will appeal to riders of all ability levels, with the green flag dropping at 8:30 am Sunday morning and the checkers falling for the lead rider at 2:30 pm that afternoon.

This is a great family and friends weekend! We encourage everyone to come on out early Saturday to get the best camping/pit locations. Plan on spending the weekend relaxing at your campsite, and on Sunday racing the 6-hour or cheering on your favorite rider or riders! There are no camping fees for the JBC Endurance events. The Six-Hours, as always, is a great spectator event whether you man the pits, check out the race from the Glen Helen bleachers, or walk the track to watch your riders conquer the Glen Helen obstacles!
